One final step makes the difference after a long run

By PAUL SCHWARTZ

Correspondent

NEW YORK — Around and around the 168th Street Regiment Armory 200-meter oval, Courtney Gallo of Immaculate Heart Academy led Ridgewood's Stephanie Doyle by a step. Two of the premier distance runners in New Jersey, hitting their time Tuesday, waiting for the final lap of the Varsity Classic 3,200-meter race.

Once or twice, Gallo was poised to try and break away from Doyle in the battle of the junior standouts, but Doyle hung on, waiting for the final lap.

"I knew it was going to come down to the last lap and I was ready for it," said Gallo.

"I know she's fast, but at the end I thought I was going to be faster," said Doyle.

When the gun sounded for the final lap, both took off like sprinters. Twice Doyle pulled alongside Gallo and appeared ready to take the lead. Twice Gallo fought her off.

Then in the final straightaway, Doyle tried again. The two runners hit the finish line side-by-side, and after a short pause, Gallo was declared the winner in 11:34.4.

"This was supposed to be an easy race because I was going to run again," said Gallo, who ran the final 200 in 32.6. "But it was a lot of fun. It's always fun racing Stephanie."

TRACK

Doyle smiled ruefully. "I love racing against Courtney. You, I've had good luck against her this year and I hope I get another chance at courts."

The Gallo-Doyle battle was the closest race of an entertaining meet, which included athletes from New Jersey, New York, Pennsylvania, and Connecticut.

In the 55-meter dash, Joe Dawkins of Hackensack defeated Group 2 State champion Ron Lewis of Asbury Park and four members of the Penns Mills (Pa.) 400-meter relay team that was in the finals at the Penn Relays.

"We've been working out with our blocks to get ready for the State Meet of Champions Sunday," said Dawkins, who was upset in the Group 4 race, but remains one of the favorites for Sunday's race. "I feel funny sometimes, everyone says I'm the man to beat, but I look at some of these other runners and their times and they're good!!! I like not being the favorite."

Wayne Valley, the Group 3 girls State champion, ran one of the top distance medley times in the nation by winning in 12:33.5 against a fine field that included two other teams that ran under 13 minutes.

Bethany Crenshaw, winner of the 3,200 Sunday in the States, led off for the Indians in 3:51 for 1,200 meters. Sarah Park, who was third in the 800 Sunday, ran two seconds faster at 2:24 for her 800 leg. Maia Dowdell had a PR 63.3 in the 400 leg and Amy Mizzone, who won the 1600 Sunday, had a PR of 5:12.8, more than five seconds faster than her time Sunday.

"I'm stunned," said Wayne Valley coach Conan Ward. "I hoped we could break 12:40 at Nationals next month and look at this. These girls are amazing."

Other North Jersey winners were Carlene Cummings of Englewood in the girls 55, Katie Cohn of Ridgewood in the girls 1,600, Bergen Catholic impressively in the 1,600 relay, and Westwood in the boys distance medley. There were some fine area performances among the non-winners. Ryota Uetani of Demarest lost the pole vault on misses to Eric Majewski of Warwick Valley, but cleared 13-feet, 6-inches in doors for the first time.

Group 4 shot champion Tara Hollowell of Trenton beat Group 1 fittest Jenicka Carter of Westwood. But the Westwood senior threw a personal best 37.8, the first time she was over 37 feet indoors.

And a pair of Queen of Peace runners continued to improve. Mike Matos, fresh off his Group 2 win in the State 1,600 Sunday, ran 2:00.5 in a second-place 800 finish, while Jose Lopes ran 51.7 for second in the 400.
